Master of Ceremonies

Justin Castellano found lighting through theatre. He is a graduate of The Theatre School at DePaul University with a BA in Acting & Directing. Combining his theatre training with a career in lighting by day he is an account manager for Archibald & Meek and by night participates in local theatre productions whenever possible. "Theatrical lighting is temporary and only experienced by a limited audience, while architectural lighting gives the opportunity for creating a more permanent story. Tonight I am excited to help celebrate these nationally recognized designs and the teams that created them."

Letter from the President

Welcome all to the IES Chicago Section Award Banquet.

Welcome all to the IES Chicago Section Award Banquet. We are delighted to have all of you here tonight to celebrate our section's award winners. Congratulations to all the award winners!

We are very enthusiastic about this year's event and first edition printed program. Over the next several pages you will be able to view each Merit Award winning project. You will also learn about upcoming events through June 2020, and share our appreciation for our members, sponsors and Board of Managers past and present.

This year the board of managers is committed to increasing the value of your membership, growing the Emerging Professionals group, and recognizing great projects by our members. To execute these goals, we are planning event topics the members have requested, outreach to local schools and businesses to recruit future leaders into the Emerging Professionals group, and forming a committee to recognize great projects from our membership.

To make this a reality we need help from our entire membership: if you are passionate about helping us with these goals, please contact president@ieschicago.org.

These initiatives would not be possible without the dedication from the Board of Managers and Associate Managers as well as the continued support from all our sponsors and members who renew annually. Thank you for your commitment and sponsorship to the IES Chicago Section.

Sincerely,

Erin L. McLellan-Dawe
IES Chicago Section President

AWARD OF MERIT

The University of Chicago Crerar Science Quadrangle project redeveloped an open campus space that was leftover from a 1980s-era project. The existing pass-through never had a true design or distinguishable feature and needed a center focus that would create a gathering space and sense of purpose.

It's been a busy year for the Emerging Professionals (EPs) here at Chicago's IES branch. From social outings to luminaire building competitions, there has never been a better time to be an Emerging Professional member. Individuals who have less than five years of experience within the lighting industry are applicable to register as an Emerging Professional within the IES at a discounted rate.

EMERGING PROFESSIONAL EVENTS

Ask the Speaker Q&A

Join the speakers after IES Chicago Section events at a bar/restaurant for an informal question and answer session.

Luminaire Competitions

Build your own luminaire as a team and compete against other National EP teams and/or as an individual and compete against others in IES Chicago Section.

Social Outings

EPs meet and socialize with their fellow colleagues at social events throughout the year.

McDonald's Flagship

AWARD OF MERIT

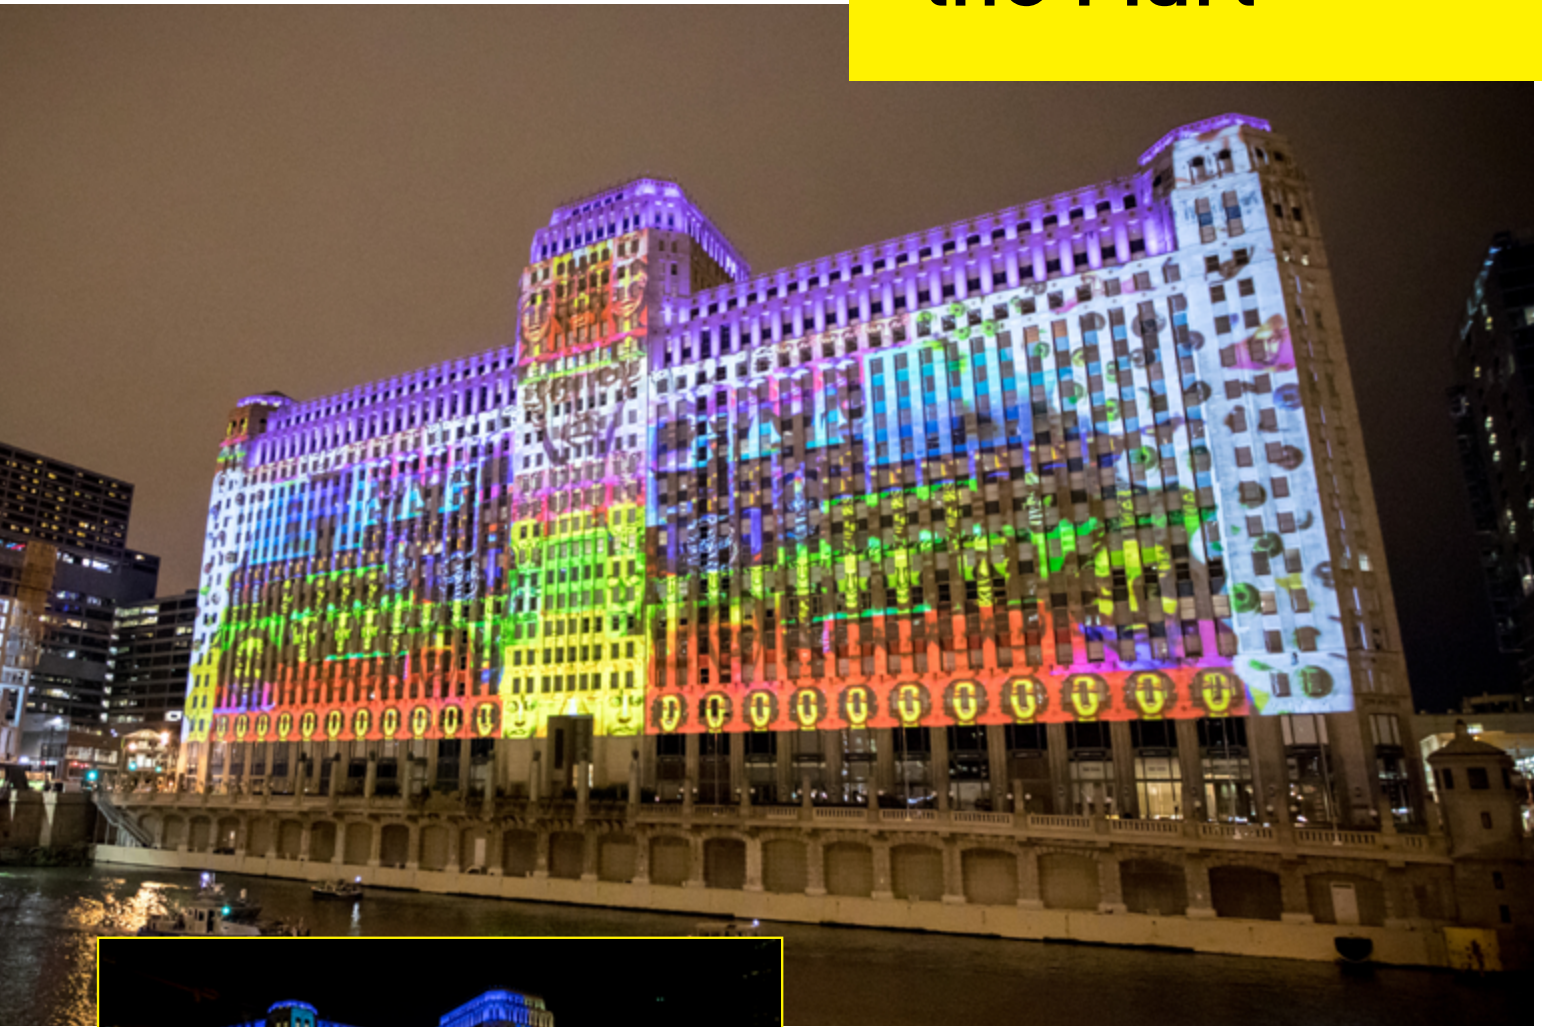

McDonald's Chicago Flagship restaurant, a sparkling 19,000- sq.-foot-glass-box, is a dramatic replacement for the 2005 Rock-n-Roll version that previously occupied the site.

WMTV Madison

AWARD OF MERIT

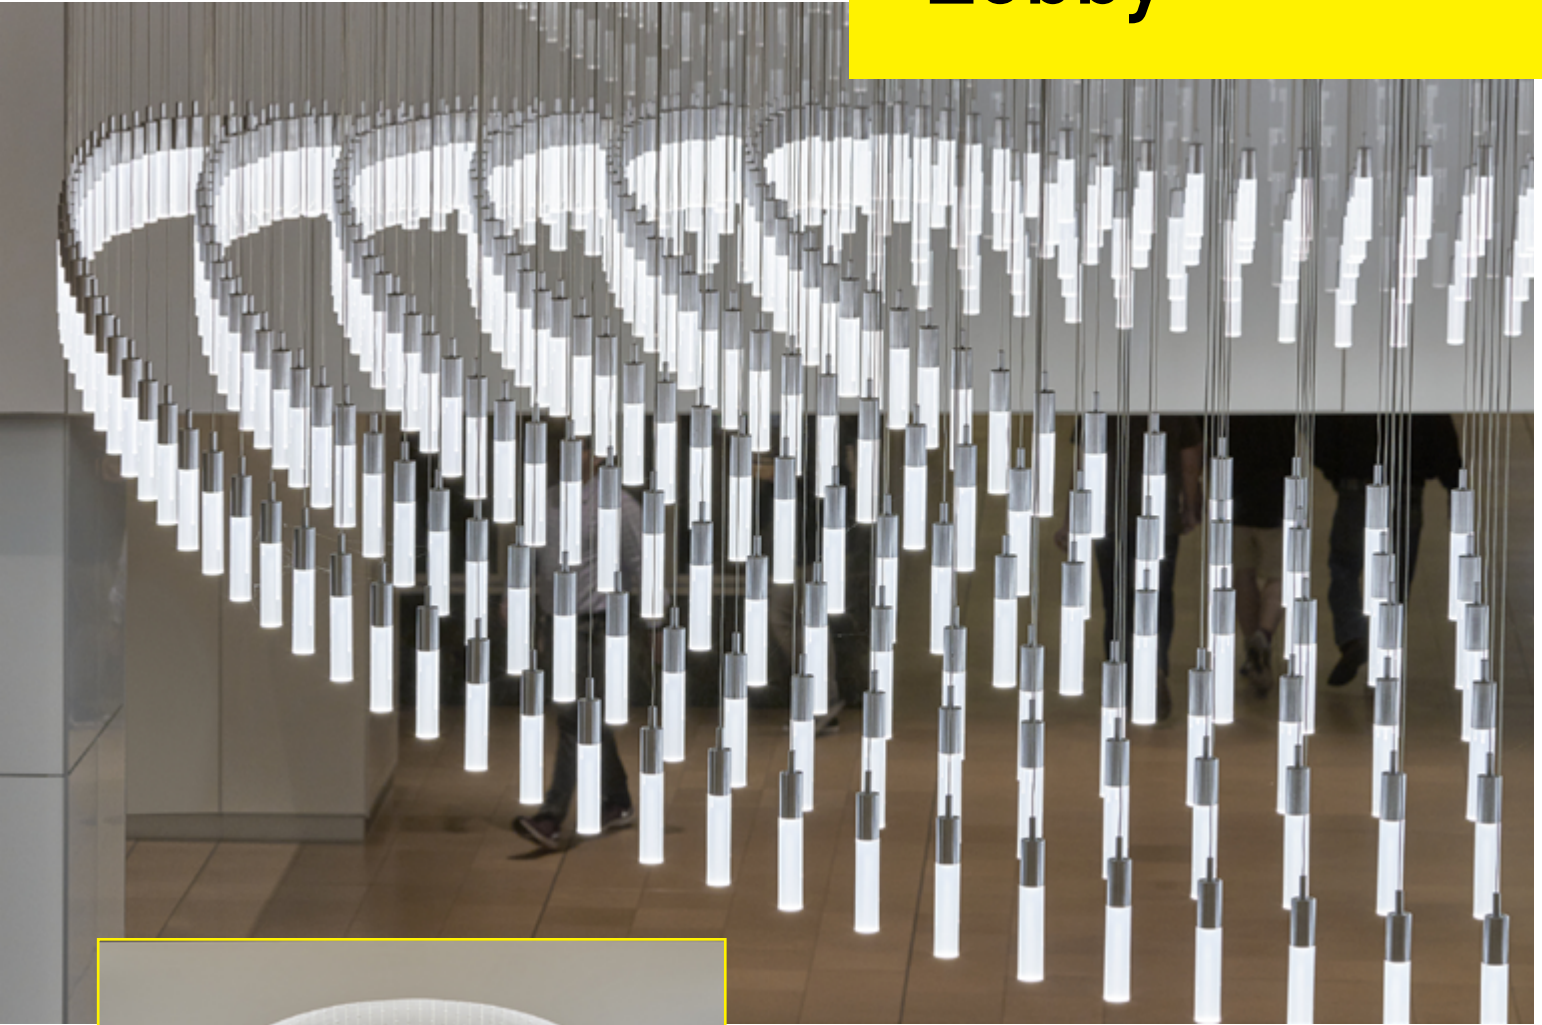

WMTV-Madison's new headquarters incorporates a newsroom, production studios, ofces, and amenity spaces. The facade is largely opaque since many production spaces cannot have daylight. WMTV wanted the building to feel transparent to reect the connectedness of their 24/7 news operation.
